Introduction

G. Edwin Lint

Before World War I, Rabbi Michael Dov Weissmandl learned about the mysterious concept of Equidistant Letter Sequences (ELS) within the original Hebrew text of the Torah (the first five books of the Bible). This phenomenon is also known as the Bible code. For example, when he found the first letter of the Hebrew word Torah, he would count forward (or backward) until he found the second letter. If that letter was 50 letters away, he'd look for the third letter another 50 letters away. This was tedious, manual labor, done without the aid of a computer. But, he found words coded into the original Hebrew of the Torah by applying the concept of ELS.

Recently, a group of Jewish scholars in Israel continued Rabbi Weissmandl's research using powerful computers. Doron Witztum, Yoav Rosenberg, and Eliyahu Rips found many words embedded via ELS within the text of the Torah. A paper called Equidistant Letter Sequences in the Book of Genesis was published in 1988 in the Journal of the Royal Statistical Society -- and more recently in Statistical Science, 1994, Vol. 9, No. 3, 429-438. The work was completed at Hebrew University and the Jerusalem College of Technology.

The original text of the Bible was written without punctuation marks and with no spaces between words. Therefore, with the aid of computers, it is possible to apply the concept of ELS and reveal heretofore hidden key words within the surface meaning of the text, throughout the Old Testament.

The author of Signature of God, Grant L. Jeffrey, is a strong Bible scholar, an evangelical Christian, and a well-known lecturer on Bible prophecy.

The author of The Bible Code and Bible Code II, Michael Drosnin, is a skeptical secular reporter. However he wrote his book in close collaboration with Dr. Eliyahu Rips, a world-class mathematician, a believer in God, and one of the discoverers of the ELS concept.

The ELS research confirms these things:

God is real

He was/is/will be a real, supernatural entity with the power to dictate the Old Testament to shepherds and kings in such a way that the truth is conveyed in the surface text while hidden ELS words are sprinkled everywhere among the characters that make up the original Hebrew text.

The Bible Is Truth

Not only did God inspire the Bible's writers to say what they said, He inspired them to say it in a way which spelled out these hidden messages. No humans could have done this, even with today's computers. The chances that it happened accidentally are beyond calculation. We've heard the Bible called a good book for years. Now we know that the Bible is THE Good Book. Almighty God, the Chief Executive Officer of the entire universe, has dictated it verbatim. How could it be anything else but Truth?

What about other religious books? That's what they are: other religious books. The Bible is the only Book of Truth.

Quality Control: God's Hand on the Scribes

After God had gone to all the trouble to embed hidden messages via ELS, the resultant Hebrew text written by the Bible authors had to be preserved totally intact. No problem. God empowered the scribes, monks, and copyists who made copies of the original manuscripts to work at zero tolerance for errors. Just one typo in the first verse of Genesis, and God's system of ELS could have been contaminated. I have been typing on a keyboard since 1949 and on a computer keyboard since 1981. Over the years, I have made more typos per square inch than anyone living or dead. If the entire Old Testament could be copied by hand without a single error, that would indeed be a miracle.

But mistakes didn't happen. There were zero typos. Or, if mistakes were made, -- they were caught and corrected. Biblical copyists and proofreaders down through the ages: we owe you an eternal debt of gratitude. Due to your skill, diligence, and meticulous attention to detail, Equidistant Letter Sequences (ELS) in the Old Testament is intact today.

After all, He is God!

Attention Flame-throwers!

Don't even bother.

People who make their living trying to discredit God and the Bible have already taken their best shots at ELS and missed the mark. Scientists, mathematicians, liberal theologians, agnostics, skeptics, atheists -- no one has been able to shoot down the ELS research.

Prologue to Proof

by G. Edwin Lint

My first personal recollection of the Bible was sitting on the lap of my Gram, Rev. Florein Strohl, as she read to me from the Egermier's Bible Story Book about the Old Testament heroes. I can still see that blue cloth cover with the picture of Jesus talking to the children. What a great way for a little kid to spend a rainy afternoon! Or any afternoon, for that matter.

Gram has been in Heaven now for many years. How she must have shouted the glory down when she first found out about how God had authenticated Himself and His Word for this digital generation by inserting key words into the Old Testament via ELS.

When I was a teenager, my Dad, Rev. J. Franklin Lint Sr., disciplined me one day by making me sit down and memorize a verse of scripture. I cheated. I chose, "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying."

From Exodus 6:10 to Deuteronomy 32:48, there is a scriptural record that God spoke to Moses 130 times. Dad went to be with the Lord in 1993, and lies beside Mom on a hillside in Milton, West Virginia; she died in 1971. Little did Mom or Dad realize that when God spake unto Moses saying, He was dictating the precise words that would contain the ELS codes which so amaze the Bible scholars as well as skeptics of this digital age.

The Bible has been written by up to 39 separate authors in three different languages over a period of 3900 hundred years. Yet it has never been in proven conflict with itself. In other words, it has internal integrity. No other literary work in the history of civilization can come even close to making, and supporting, this claim.

And, the Bible has never been in proven conflict with scientific fact. It's been in conflict with theories, such as evolution, but never with fact. The primary purpose of the Bible is to share with humans the process whereby we may return to fellowship with our Creator, Almighty God.

However, when the Bible does speak about history, medicine, astronomy, or science, it is found to be totally correct in the light of the latest scientific and archeological discoveries.

Michael Drosnin's The Bible Code is especially rich in detailed ELS references to the history as well as the future of this nation and the planet.

It is my prayer that this humble Website will help you use these four books about the ELS codes to verify for yourself that God is real, and the Bible is truth.

Dr. Jeffrey B. Satinover, Bible Review: November 1995:

"The robustness of the Torah codes findings derives from the rigor of the research. To be published in a journal such as Statistical Science, it had to run, without stumbling, an unusually long gauntlet manned by some of the world's most eminent statisticians. The results were thus triply unusual: in the extraordinariness of what was found; in the strict scrutiny the findings had to hold up under; and in the unusually small odds (less than 1 in 62,500) that they were due to chance. Other amazing claims about the Bible, Shakespeare, etc., have never even remotely approached this kind of rigor, and have therefore never come at all close to publication in a peer-reviewed hard-science venue. The editor of Statistical Science, himself a skeptic, has challenged readers to find a flaw; though many have tried, none has succeeded. All the 'First Crack' questions asked by Bible Review readers -- and many more sophisticated ones -- have therefore already been asked by professional critics and exhaustively answered by the research. Complete and convincing responses to even these initial criticisms get fairly technical."

What about secular events in the Bible?

ELS reveals that Hitler, Nazis, Auschwitz, Berlin, Poland, Twin Towers knocked by airplane, are coded within the original Hebrew text of the Bible. ELS references to the assassinations of Yitzak Rabin, Anwar Sadat, both Kennedys, and Abraham Lincoln are also documented. Check the Indices for details.

Annotated Index:

1. Bible Code and 2. Bible Code II

Equidistant letter sequences (ELS), which constitute the Bible code, are based on these facts:

1. The original text of the Old Testament was written in Hebrew.
2. This text was carefully preserved down through the centuries by monks and rabbis whose sole function in life was the safeguarding of this original Hebrew text.
3. The original text was without punctuation or spaces between words. A computer can print out all 304,805 characters and display them into 64 rows of 4772 Hebrew characters.
4. The computer can also display the entire original Hebrew text of the Bible as a gigantic crossword puzzle. Coded messages appear when ELS finds related words and concepts horizontally, vertically, and diagonally.
5. Dates are coded according to the Hebrew calendar but are translated to AD for clarity.

The Bible Codes is filled with segments of these ELS crossword puzzles, many of which will be referenced in this annotated index. Dr. Elyahu Rips, the discoverer of the Bible code, claims we have only scratched the surface with current findings. This is like working on a jigsaw puzzle with most of the pieces missing.

In The Bible Code, the references below show Hebrew characters with English footnotes, arranged in crossword style.

In Bible Code II: The Countdown, even more electrifying revelations are documented on the following pages: 3, 20, 167, 192, 236, 237.

Proof Epilogue

Who is the audience for Equidistant Letter Sequences (ELS)?

by G. Edwin Lint

Why did God go to all the trouble to insert ELS into the original Hebrew text of the Old Testament if no one could research it with assurance until the current computer age?

Grant Jeffrey suggests in The Signature of God that the people of this generation are the audience for the ELS phenomenon. We are the generation which has rejected the authority of God and His word in our lives. We have taken God and His Word out of our schools, our criminal justice system, and our public lives. And, many of us have taken God out of our personal behavior.

At the same time, we are the generation with the technology to decode ELS and the ability to publish this information far and wide. At the last printing of Signature of God, there were 110,000 in print. That is a lot of copies for a Christian book; the number will grow.

As the computer generation -- those of us who live along the information superhighway, we have the ability to decode ELS, understand the significance of this research, and publish this exciting information far and wide.

You are reading this information in an eBook. Hundreds of thousands of computers have accessed my Web pages such as this, in up to 50 countries. I believe God has revealed the miracle of ELS to our generation because we are in a position to both understand the concept and spread the truth.

Michael Drosnin, in his book The Bible Code, adds another slant to the purpose for modern ELS revelations. He suggests that the Bible code is actually a book within a book. First, there is the surface text of the Bible some of us know so well. But in addition, there is a hidden book, in the form of the ELS codes. This hidden book had a time lock in the form of computer technology. Not until the computer age could this book be opened. As such, this may be the "sealed book" of Daniel and Revelation. [See Chapter 4, Page 86.]

The American Heritage Dictionary defines apologetics as "The branch of theology that is concerned with defending or proving the truth of Christian doctrines". Up until ELS, it has been uphill sledding for Christian apologists. Here are a few paraphrases of responses I have received to the other Christian publishing I have done on the Web:

- *The Bible is just one good book among many good books.
- Jesus was a good man who did good things. There are many other good men who have done good things, also.
- Thinking people don't believe the Bible.
- Everyone wants to go to Heaven. There are many ways to get there.

In spite of the ELS miracle, skeptics will continue to disbelieve the Bible and sling intellectual mud at those who do. However, they can no longer hide behind the shield of science to do so.

What should I do?

Perhaps you have been believing and even teaching falsehoods all your life. Now you know the truth. What now? Gentile or Jew -- North/South American or European -- African or Oriental, the answer is the same. As the Apostle Paul said to the Philippian jailer: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved, and thy house."

Follow these three steps:

First, understand God's plan for your salvation.

Second, accept Jesus Christ as your personal Lamb of God, as your sin sacrifice.

Third, begin a spiritual growth and development process that will take you from being a baby Christian to a mature Christian. I have a book on the Web titled First Steps for Baby Christians. It's specifically designed to do just that.

In The Bible Code, Michael Drosnin finds that the years 2000 through 2006 may be times of great disaster and destruction for the world. He also finds, on page 180 "In the end of days, the code will save".

The author of The Bible Code doesn't suggest how "the code will save". However, the New Testament is filled with prophecies of the Rapture, when Jesus Christ will come back to earth to take all those who have accepted Him as their personal Lamb of God to be with Him in Heaven forever. The details of what the Bible teaches about the Rapture are found in a novel titled Gone.

Perhaps we will learn even more about the rapture when we have learned how to decode ELS references to it in the Old Testament.

Grant R. Jeffrey, Ph.D.

The late Grant R. Jeffrey is well known in the field of Bible prophecy. He was a powerful speaker, a tireless researcher, and a prolific author and producer of audios and videos.

It was my privilege to hear Grant Jeffrey present the essence of The Signature of God the weekend of November 6, 1996, in a conference at the Christian Life Assembly in Camp Hill, PA 17011 USA. In Bible Code Software Comparisons by Roy A. Reinhold 1/21/98, you can read about the features of a number of ELS software programs that enable the average person to look for the hidden codes in the Bible as recently shown in The Bible Code by Michael Drosnin and Cracking the Bible Code by Jeffrey Satinover.

It was truly exciting to hear Grant explain the ELS concept and talk about what this new research will mean to the Christian community and the world at large. This book is described in Grant's literature as follows:

The Signature of God is the most fascinating and important book that Grant has written. This book will startle and thrill you with its well-documented scientific evidence that will prove that the Bible is the inspired Word of God beyond a shadow of a doubt. Grant argues that God has indeed written His Signature on the pages of the Scriptures through a staggering number of divine proofs that its words are inspired and authoritative.
